Event overview:

National education day was celebrated on November, 11 at ASBC College, Hall no 1. The event was a collaborative effort by the INSTITUTIONS INNOVATION COUNCIL(IIC) and IQAC . With the theme, "AI and Education : Human Agency in an Automated World" commemorating the Birth Anniversary of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad. The programme commenced at 11 p.m onwards and all the faculty members, students participated in the same.

Programme Highlights:

The event began with a warm welcome by Mr. Sahab Udiin Laskar Co-ordinator IQAC cum IIC President, introduced the theme of the Day and highlighted the legacy of Maulana Abul kalam Azad, emphasizing his dedication to equitable and progressive education. Then he spoke on the theme by saying the importance of AI and its uses in in Education to help individuals, navigate and maintain control over the increasing influence of artificial intelligence in learning and life.

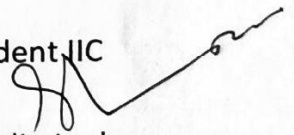

Then Mr. Kokil Deka assistant professor, department of Assamese highlights the key features of AI and said that how education can equip people with the critical thinking, critical reasoning and creative skills necessary to thrive in a technology advance world. He also said that automation is using technology to perform tasks with little to no human intervention; It is about using machines, software or robots to handle jobs and so on automatically.

Then Mr. Kudrat Ali, Assistant Professor, Department of Education highlighted on the nobility of the Day and retrospect back towards the old education system and at the same time juxtaposed with the NEP 2020, it focus on experiential and competency- based learning and its role in fostering critical thinking, creativity and inclusiveness.

The student also gave their speeches on the day and on its theme. The interactive Q & A allowed students to discuss the futures of Education in India and raised pertinent questions about educational reforms and challenges.

The lecture concluded the closing remark delivered by the HoD Nassima Akhtara, Department of English summarizing on the Day's key takeaways and reiterating ASBC College's dedication to foster inclusivity and excellence in Education.
